

A Way from Heart to Heart

A knock at the door shatters Kate Hemingways life when shes informed of her husband Stuarts death in Afghanistan. She struggles to care for their young son George with only Stuarts aloof best friend Paul as emotional support. Piece by fragile piece, she tries to rebuild her life, realising Paul and her son have formed an unlikely bond. When Paul agrees to accompany Kate and a group of disadvantaged teenagers on a trip to the Yorkshire moors, he finally reveals something hes kept secret for years. Kates own scarred heart begins to open up but can she risk her sons happiness as well as her own? A novel about friendship, loss, and the human hearts enduring capacity for love, this stunning debut explores one womans attempt at survival when her world comes crashing down around her.
