

Thundering Silence (Family by Choice Book 8)

Jack and Stephanie. When they found each other, their lives were empty and their hearts were as well. It took love and strength and passion for them to come together and create the bond that helped form their family of choice. Now, in an instant, it all fell apart. Jack and Stephanie were solid. They were the anchors. They were the couple who were strong and who everyone else leaned on. They had a beautiful and spunky daughter and a son on the way. They had survived the trials and tribulations a new marriage can bring and they were the epitome of strength and love. Their future was shining the brightest. When they went to the bank that morning to support their family, they could never have imagined the horror they would face. The gunshot, the blood, and the moment everything changed. Who is Jack without his heart and soul? How can Sabrina grow up without a mother? How will this family survive? And just what was in the safe deposit box? For Jack and Tommy and Bill, its about protecting those they love. Its about ending the threats once and for all. Its time to settle the score.
