

Head Over Heels

The quest for Olympic immortality is killing Natalia. Literally. She has pushed her body beyond endurance and she has nothing left to give. Good thing Zechariahs is there to pick her up and ease her through the transition from Olympic athlete to normal life. Zechariahs has loved Natalia from the first moment he met her when they were both teenagers. He knew she had ambitions she had to pursue and kept his distance, but was unable to completely leave her. That is, until her mother moved her to another city with a better training facility. From that moment on, Zechariahs dedicated himself to being ready when Natalia left gymnastics behind. He intended to be there. But will Natalia recognize when its time to hang up her leotard and live her own life, or will she honor the wishes of her mother and continue on the path shes followed for most of her life, even if it means losing out on her chance at true love?
