During that time, Paul felt desperate, alone, and very frightened, and he almost lost the one thing he needed to keep going faith. If it werent for the support of seven very special individuals, all of whom had been through their own personal hell and not only survived but thrived, Paul might not have made it. With their words of encouragement and advice, Paul was able to face up to the changes he had to make, and he learned some very valuable lessons along the way. It is a survival manual for anyone who is struggling to cope with a life crisis, going through a hard time, or trying to make some meaning out of a traumatic life event.
