M-I-S-I-S-I-P-I - When we need them to, some lies become truth. A tragic childhood act has been rippling out across 25 years and now, in New Orleans on the eve of Hurricane Katrina, its a tidal wave which will engulf everyone it touches. Julianna Jameson is leaving home. She packs a bag. She books a flight. She leaves a note on the kitchen counter. She departs her Boston home and disappears, without a warning, without a goodbye. For husband Scott, the initial shock carries a strange relief: their slide--from storybook soul mates to virtual strangers--could only end one way and its been a long time coming. And anyway, Julianna has always been... unconventional. All that remains is to decipher the meaning behind her cryptic note. But thats before Scott finds evidence of her secret other actions on the day she left. A torrent of discovery shows just how little of Juliannas past he truly knew. They also cast a whole different light on the couples present difficulties and offer Scott a sliver of hope for rescuing their future. His only course is to follow her to the place where her dark history has called her back, where two powerful and ruthless adversaries are waging the endgame of a long and bloody feud. Julianna is the key. Shes the only one who can stop it, because shes the one who started it. Julianna is going home for the last time--to the city by the sea at the mouth of the river.
