

Soul of the Sorcerer - Part Four and Conclusion: Son of the Sorcerer

The Concluding Part of the Soul of the Sorcerer Series. The Bremethren are coming at least that's what Lloyd Brook has been told; whether by Horace Burnaby, or through the horrific visions implanted in his wife Edala and friend Bethany by the strange tattooed Ebony Beings. For the moment though Lloyd is distracted by the simple patterns of both married life and parenthood. Edala, their son and he, live in his Mother's old house in the village, along with the Ebony Daemon Themisia and her fair skinned child the Daughter of the Ebony Being. Only Edala, Bethany and Allen know that the Ebony Being is Lloyd from a future that may no longer be. The house next door is now the home of Boadaiska, Ingemar and their daughter Louise. Life is bliss; plans have been made to defend Kalana and the Empire, what could possibly go wrong? In Kalana the mystical creatures known as the Mae are aware that Lloyd now has a child and they intend to make him keep the promise he made when they restored his powers years ago; they want the firstborn of the Sorcerer his Son and first Male descendant of the Dragon Ingemar. On Earth new enemies are revealed plunging the Sorcerer and his family into grave danger, danger that will take them on a quest which will threaten both Lloyds Soul and the very existence of the Universe. -----Some Reviews of the Series----- 5 Stars - Magic fans out there..
