Do you feel dissatisfied with your life and the direction it is going? For instance, are you feeling sad, frustrated, depressed or have a low self-esteem and simply feel mentally and physically exhausted. In such instances, most of us will run to the therapists like psychiatrists and psychoanalysts in a bid to deal with whatever is troubling us. Although this may sometimes help, the solution is temporary; you may probably find yourself falling back to the same problem a few months after the therapy. The answer is simple; your mind is still carrying the same beliefs that it had before going for therapy. Your behavior is entirely influenced by your beliefs, which you have acquired in different ways from different experiences. Do you know that you can use the same mind to rewrite any self-limiting beliefs you may be having. NLP is all about transforming yourself so that you can deal with such issues like relationships, depression, phobia, anxiety, passing exams and many other aspects of life. By reading this book, you will discover what is NLP, how to use it to transform your life, how to use it to discover your map, how to use NLP to get rid of negative or inhibiting beliefs, the different techniques you can use to attain any of these goals and lots of other useful information. This book provides step-by-step approach to understanding NLP so that you can start using it in your day-to-day life.
