Now, awakened again in a new world, naked, with strangers, they had no idea why. The days that followed revealed a plan put in place by the powers-that-be that led events in the universe. The final survivors of their dying world, a group of shocked people discover that apparently death isn't forever. They would build their lives again, but this time, something else has plans for them. These are the parents of the First Bloods, the days of the beginning of magic on earth...origins of a race with great destiny to protect life. It appears that we're not alone after all.
