

Torah In the Balance, Volume I: The Validity of the Torah and Its Practical Life Applications

The Messianic movement largely advocates that the Torah or Pentateuch is relevant instruction for Believers today, and that modern Christianity has too often ignored Gods revelation in the Tanach or Old Testament not benefiting from this dismissal. Yet the subject of Torah observance can often be a point of contention, not only between the Messianic and Christian communities, but even internally among Messianics. Why is this the case? Do we have to be negative about this? Is it possible that people claiming to be Torah observant do not often know why the Law of Moses is to instruct and teach todays Believers? Have some Messianics simply lacked an appropriate perspective on how the work of the Holy Spirit is to guide Gods people into greater holiness and maturity, given the promises of the New Covenant (Jeremiah 31:31-34; Ezekiel 36:26-27)? How are we to balance how following the Torah includes outward practices, but also includes a greater manifestation of Gods love and goodness to all we encounter? Torah In the Balance, Volume I is a well needed resource for our time, as it addresses the main aspects of how to follow Gods Torah. Subjects addressed include: why Believers need the Torah, the Acts 15 Jerusalem Council, the foundational importance of the Ten Commandments, the role of the appointed times, and the dietary laws. While Messianic positions on these aspects of faith can often clash with those of our Christian brothers and sisters, they are considered in a fair and reasonable way that encourages positive solutions between all people who have called out to Yeshua the Messiah (Jesus Christ) for salvation. A large amount of scholastic engagement and support is offered for the validity of these aspects of faith on the part of todays Believers. This book is an important addition to any Messianic library, and should be read by those desiring not only a comprehensive understanding regarding what the Lord has started in this hour but the great responsibility we have been endowed by Him. With everything we have been called to do, the transforming power of Gods love is emphasized above all! This resource encourages growth and maturity on the part of all of His people.
