

The Joy of Volunteering - working and surviving in developing countries

Have you ever wondered, How Can I Volunteer to Help in Third World Countries? The need for volunteers is great and the desire of most people to help is abundant, however information on how to get involved, how to prepare for a trip and what to expect when you get there is scarce. Dr. Seiden founded Doctors to the World and has been to many countries to help in medical emergencies, after natural disasters and just to help when needed. He is uniquely qualified to help the would-be volunteer to prepare in the best possible way for all the likely occurrences when traveling to Third World countries. The stories of his adventures are extremely insightful and interesting. If you want to travel to these countries, this book is a must. If you want to read a one-of-a-kind travel log, you will definitely enjoy the ride!
